In Woman in the Water, The body of Nancy Brooks, high school swim coach, is found in the pool at the local sports complex just as her team arrives for practice. Ann Smith is called in to investigate the homicide. Ann and her Sergeant (second in command) Louise Barker search through the house and discover evidence that the murder most likely took place there, rather than at the sports complex, as was first assumed. They interview the neighbors, review the evidence and interview the girls on the team and their parents once again.

In The Chill of the Night, Many things go 'bump' in the night. These stories are a gathering of some of the most chilling, thought-provoking and wondrous tales of fright. You'll want to be cozy and secure when you dive into these depths, for more than just your nerve will be tested... for these are stories meant to drive your spirit to the edge of insanity, and bring you back in time for breakfast!

In Murder for the Books, This story is about Chief Inspector Mark Bullard and his junior partner, Detective Sargent Ben Keyes. They are investigating a murder with no evidence to point them in any direction. Soon after, they begin an investigation on a second murder, this time with more leads and clues. Both men instinctively feel the murders are somehow connected but find only subtle similarities that may or may not mean they are related. When a third murder occurs, the two detectives are finally able to connect the dots and but will they find a killer?

In The Art of the Kiss and Other Mysteries, Dianna seemed to be an ordinary girl back in junior high. But there was something people didn't know about her. Some sort of a secret she unraveled years later – her life was completely changed by...two kisses. As simple as it may sound, those kisses determined her life once and forever.

In Kiss of Death, Laura O'Hara is a young, rebellious 17 year old, whose parents force a move upon her junior year in high school from New York. Laura, feeling frustrated and misunderstood by her parents, spends most of her time researching the history of the places in which she's lived, divulging herself into the information of the ghosts that have filled her towns in the past.
