BLIND PLANET© is a work of fiction that speaks to the heart of all people, all nations and all religions. It tells the story of a woman artist, living in rural Maine, who has an unexpected impact on the entire planet in the year 2030. This book is a collaboration between the author and the artist, a journey on a creative path that eventually led to this modest work of fiction and a message for humanity as we move towards a profound near future. The reader finds the planet unraveling through wars, resource depletion and consolidated power. There are those still left with light inside as the Earth grows darker and an extraordinary event takes place that changes the Planet forever.
